

Dutch Harbor, Alaska.

Show length : 13 minutes

June 3-4, 1942, the Japanese launched two aircraft carrier raids on Dutch Harbor, but retreated to support their forces after its defeat at Midway Island.

Inhabited first by the Unangan people [Aleut], then the Russians, it later went on to become the largest fisheries port in the US by volume caught.

Viewed as the starting point for the "Deadliest Catch Fishermen" TV Series, the town with the Russian Orthodox Church is the Unalaska on Unalaska Island, joined by a bridge is Dutch Harbor, on Amaknak Island. The annual salmon run invites eagles to come and feast and be photographed.
